:: 2 ::

The firm was put under obligation to fulfill export obligation with stipulated period and in the event of failure to do so to pay without demur or protest the sum demanded as penalty for non-fulfillment of the aforesaid export obligation.

The Noticee firm had not submitted the documents evidencing the fulfillment of EO. This office had issued a Show Cause Notice dated 31.10.2012 directing you to submit the requisite documents towards the fulfillment of EO or meet the undersigned within 15 days from the date of receipt of the show cause notice, for which you neither appeared in person nor submitted any documents towards the fulfillment of E.O.

The export obligation period in this case already expired on 04.09.2011 and you had failed to fulfill the Export Obligation within the prescribed period and as per the declaration submitted by you and since you failed to fulfill the EO and did not submit any documentary evidence for fulfilling the EO, you are liable to pay Duty foregone plus interest @15% per annum thereon till date.

FINDINGS

I have perused the licensing file leading to the issue of the subject license. Enough opportunities have been given to the NOTICEE FIRM to submit the documentary evidence towards the fulfillment EO but in vain. I have to rely on two factors: (a) whether the LICENSEE had caused any revenue loss to the Exchequer in the imports affected by them and (b) whether the LICENSEE had mis-utilised the Scheme for unjust enrichment at the cost of Government Revenue under the subject license.

In this case the export obligation period expired by 04.09.2011. As the NOTICEE FIRM had not submitted any documents, it is presumed that the NOTICEE FIRM had imported the raw materials and diverted the same for other purposes thereby violating the conditions of the license and this caused revenue loss to the Government Exchequer.

Since you had not submitted the Bill of Entries for the imports made so far, it is presumed that the duty foregone is of Rs.34,32,417/- as declared by you at the time of filing the application for grant of EPCG License, in question, was being availed by you and so as per Policy and Procedure, the NOTICEE FIRM is liable to pay duty of Rs.34,32,417/- plus interest to the tune of Rs.48,91,194/- amounting to a total of Rs.83,23,611/- to regularize the case.

ORDER

In this case, in the absence of any documents towards the fulfillment of Export obligation, I do presume that the firm had mis-utilized the license by misusing the Scheme and willfully defaulted in fulfilling the export obligation rendering themselves liable for penalty under the FT(D&R) Act, 1992 and the Rules made thereunder amended from time to time. Therefore, I, in terms of Powers vested in me under Section 11(2) read with 11(3) the FT(D&R) Act, 1992 impose a fiscal penalty of Rs.83,23,611/- to recover the duty plus interest on the firm. The evidence of payment should be produced by the NOTICEE FIRM within 30 days from the date of receipt of this Order by way of Demand Draft in favour of Jt.DGFT, Hyderabad payable at Hyderabad.
